Creative Services Manager

Are you sick of wasting your ideas on products you don't really care about? Do you wish you didn't have to dance the 3 ideas shuffle for clients who just play it safe?

We're looking for a creative who can help us turn Australia into a nation of bike riders. When we get there you'll be able to say you played a big role in making sure people's lives are happy and healthy.

You'll need to:

- have a mind bursting with ideas
- love finding what touches the soul of different people
- be able to vary your approach but keep consistency
- mix words and pictures to deliver a knock out message
- consider yourself a triple threat – designing, copyrighting and photography
- be motivated by results rather than winning swanky awards
- go hard, tell it straight and never settle.

If you're ready to swim away from the mainstream and live the life you've dreamed of, make your pitch to people@bicyclenetwork.com.au
